The Congress of 1925 will be held under the greatest patronage of His Majesty the King. The Right Honourable Walter Duncanson, M.P., Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries, and the Right Honourable A. H. Chamberlain, M.P., Minister of Health, have consented to act as Honorary Joint Presidents. The Right Honourable the Lord Rokeby, K.A.V.S., is Chairman of the General Committee.

The Congress is already assured of the full support of the British Government and is being organized in association with the International Dairy Federation.

It is probable that sessions of the Congress will be held in London, Glasgow, Edinburgh and Belfast. Everywhere will be arranged in places of interest throughout the United Kingdom, and every effort will be made to present to the delegates and representatives in attendance a comprehensive survey of the organization and methods of the milk industry in this country.

The Annual Show of the Royal Agricultural Society of England, which will be held at Woburn during the period of the Congress, will afford visitors an opportunity of seeing the latest examples of dairy cattle in a country famous for its Dairymaking. In all its aspects, including apiculture, will also be made a feature of the Show, which will thus provide business facilities of which some of our visiting delegates will no doubt wish to take advantage.

With a view to making the Congress thoroughly representative of every aspect of the dairy industry it is proposed that the papers to be considered at the various sessions should fall within four main groups:—

Milk production.—All matters bearing on the production of milk, wholesome milk. The breeding, feeding and management of dairy cattle—education and training work amongst milk producers—the technique of clean milk production—economies of milk production—milk marketing—the improvement of breeding methods—co-operative organization of farmers—young farmers' clubs, etc.

Milk distribution and marketing.—Papers dealing (necessarily speaking) with milk from the time it leaves the farm till it reaches the consumer. Transport facilities—marketing—co-operatives—distribution—methods of processing milk—pasteurized products (bottles, skates, condensed milk, ice-cream, dried milk, milk products)—dairy machinery—materials used in manufacture—standardization of machinery—milk bottles, etc.

Milk consumption.—The importance of milk in the human dietary—propaganda to encourage the consumption of milk.

Administration and control.—In this category will be included all aspects of official intervention in the milk industry whether by way of the promotion or subsidization of research and research, or by regulating the conditions under which milk and milk products may be produced, distributed or consumed.

The General Committee of the Dairy Congress, 1925, will welcome the attendance of all who are concerned in the subjects which the Congress will discuss—whether as producers, distributors, scientists, physicians, British administrators, welfare workers, public health or economists.

Eminent authorities from the British Empire and from Foreign Countries will be invited to deliver lectures to the Congress, and there will be free exchange and discussion of the latest knowledge and experience relating to milk and dairy products. All accepted papers will be printed in English and such other languages as may be desired advisable, and circulated before the Congress.

It will be of great assistance if each Government will arrange for the nomination of a representative (whose name should be notified to the address given below) as the person responsible for accommodation as well as for arranging the representation of that country at the Congress, and for arranging and submitting to the organizers of the Congress the views of the industrial and scientific interests of his particular country, so that the programme when finally arranged may be of the greatest benefit to all.

Bills introduced in the Council of State and Legislative Assembly, Reports of Select Committees presented to the Council and Assembly and Bills published under Rule 18 of the Indian Legislative Rules.

The following Bill was introduced in the Legislative Assembly on the 26th September 1927:—

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY BILL No. 40 OF 1927.

A Bill further to amend the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922, for certain purposes.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922, for the purpose hereinafter appearing; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

1. That Act may be called the Indian Income-tax (Amendment) Bill, 1927.
2. (1) In section 23 of the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922, after sub-section (2), the following sub-section shall be inserted, namely:—
“(3) In case coming under clause (a) of sub-section (2), where the income, profits and gains shall be tax cannot be definitely ascertained, or can be ascertained only with an amount of taxable and argues to the contrary which, in the opinion of the Central Board of Revenue, is unreasonable, the rules made under that sub-section may—

(a) prescribe methods by which an estimate of such income, profits and gains may be made; and

(b) in cases coming under sub-section (i) of clause (a) of sub-section (4), prescribe the proportion of the income which shall be deemed to be income, profits and gains liable to tax, and an assessment based on such estimate or proportion shall be deemed to be duly made in accordance with the provisions of this Act."

(F) Sub-sections (g) and (h) of the same section shall be re-numbered as sub-sections (j) and (k), respectively.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

This is a framed Bill intended to remove a slight defect in the drafting of the Act which has come to light in connection with the question of assessment of Tax Companies. The clause proposed to be inserted sets out in clearer terms than at present what has always been the intention of section 29 (5) (a), and what has also been the basis of the various rules framed by the Central Board of Revenue in virtue of the powers conferred by that section.

The 15th August 1927.

(4) The provisions of section 28A shall apply in reference to the High Court under this section.

Provided that nothing in this sub-section shall be deemed to authorize an appeal to His Majesty in Council as a question of fact."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The Government have been considering for some time, in connection with the commercial community and the officers of the Income-tax Department, the best methods of rendering legal decisions precise, new legal, which are adopted by persons desirous of evading the payment of income-tax and super-tax, and the Bill proposes to give the taxing authorities the necessary powers to check such evasion.

I broadly speaking, the proposals in the Bill are—

(1) to define a "firm," "partner" and "partnership" in the same sense as in the Indian Contract Act, 1872;

(2) to give discretion to the Income-tax Officer to treat as separate assesses the individuals composing any association carrying on business, of which only one member is competent to bind the association by his acts;

(3) to give the Income-tax Officer discretion to treat the members of a company as separate assesses if the company restricts the right to transfer shares or limits the number of shareholders, excludes employees, to 50, or does not invite, or permit subscription to its shares or debentures by the public; and to make the control of not more than five members;

(4) to permit the production by public servants before a Court of all documents or information relating to the registration of firms;

(5) to impose penalties for persons actually or de facto share of the profits of a firm is inconsistent with the provisions of the deed of partnership registered under the Companies Act; and

(4) to give direction to the Income-tax Officer to treat a registered firm as an unregistered firm if it fails to make a return of its income or to produce accounts or other documents called for by the Income-tax Officer.

3. The power under (2) and (3) in paragraph 2 above will be exercised by the Income-tax Officer, with the previous approval of the Assistant Commissioner, and an appeal will lie against the orders of the Income-tax Officer to the Commissioner of Income-tax. Against the appellate order of the Commissioner, it is proposed to allow a reference to the High Court both on questions of fact and on questions of law raised or on questions of law only as in all other matters arising under the Income-tax Act.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The purpose of the Bill is to remedy certain defects which have come to light since the passing of the Cantonments Act, 1924. These are indicated in the notes on clauses below.

NOTES ON CLAUSES.

Clause 2.—According to a strict construction, the expression "immediate vicinity" might be held to denote actual adjacency. The meaning of the word "immediate" is necessary in order to cover off the portions in a Cantonment of areas which are not actually contiguous but which lie in close proximity. This follows the wording of section 3, and it is doubtful whether it was ever intended to make a distinction of the kind implied between the two sections.

Clause 3.—The Cantonments Act, as amended, contains contradictions. While section 32 makes it the duty and privilege of Vice-Presidents to preside at meetings of the Cantonment Board from which the President is absent, section 3 (a), read with section 24 (f), has the indirect effect that the President, for all practical purposes, can never be absent. It often happens that the office of President is held by a succession of different Commanding Officers within a comparatively short period. For instance, during the temporary absence of one officer from the station on military duty or station leave or during the transfer of his headquarters to a hill station for the hot weather, his place is taken by another officer. The effect of the amendment will be to allow the same officer to continue to hold office as President for a considerable length of time and to retain his position together with its responsibilities, thus ensuring continuity of administration. At the same time, it will make it possible for Vice-Presidents to preside at meetings of the Board from which the President is absent.

Clause 4 and 5.—In the Punjab Municipal Act, 1911, provision is made for the removal of an elected member of a Municipal Committee, if he has, since his election, become subject to any disqualification which, if it had existed at the time of his election, would have rendered him ineligible under any rule for the time being in force regulating the qualifications of candidates for election, or if it appears that he was at the time of his election subject to any such disqualification. To secure uniformity of practice it is proposed to make a similar provision in the Cantonments Act, 1924, in regard to elected members of Cantonment Boards. Section 54 has been amend accordingly, and section 55 is re-enacted therewith.

Clause 6.—Under section 18 of the repealed Cantonments Act, 1910, the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council was necessary in the imposition of any tax in a Cantonment by a Local Government. As a measure of decentralisation, it was decided that the power to impose taxes in Cantonments should be delegated unconditionally to Local Governments. The clause requiring the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council was accordingly omitted from section 18 of the Cantonments Act, 1924. The result has been to confer on Local Governments greater powers with respect to taxation in Cantonments than they possess under the Scheduled Taxes Rules, now existing in Municipalities. To ensure this security and ensure uniformity of practice, it is proposed to insert a proviso requiring the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council when a Local Government imposes taxes in a Cantonment which it could not impose in a Municipality without such sanction.

Clause 7, 8, 9, 10, 11 and 12.—As a matter of equity, it is considered that the terms in respect of buildings in full Government referred to in clause (4) of sub-section (5) of section 180 should be held to include any tax assessed on the annual value of buildings, whether such tax is a tax on property, such as house tax, or a tax for services rendered, such as electricity or water tax. It is also considered that the same interpretation should be placed on the "tax" referred to in sections 65, 66, 74, 75 and 77. As these sections stand, the word "tax" could be interpreted to mean the ordinary house tax only, but it is clear that they are intended to regulate taxes levied on all buildings or assessed on the annual value of buildings, whatever may be the object of the tax. The amendments are made with the object of bringing the provisions of sections 65, 66, 74, 75 and 77 and 180 (4) into line with each other.

As it stands, there is no doubt that the proviso in section 11 applies to that section only and not to section 14. The amendment as a new section 17A is intended to make it clear that the provisions thereof are equally applicable to sections 10, 11 and 17.

Clause 12.—Under section 31 of the repealed Ordinances Act, 1914, the Government fund was vested in His Majesty, and its management was entrusted to the Government Authority subject, nevertheless, to the control of the Local Government. With the introduction of the Ordinances Act, 1924, the provision has altered inasmuch as there is no provision corresponding to section 31 of the Act of 1914, and the Government fund is now vested in, and managed by, the Government Authority. Government funds, like municipal funds, no longer form part of the Government balance, and there is no reason why Government Authorities should not be allowed to place Government funds on fixed deposit with approved indigenous banks if they desire to do so in preference to the Imperial Bank, provided that the previous sanction of the Local Government is obtained in every such case.

The following Bill was introduced in the Legislative Assembly on the 4th September 1927:—

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY BILL No. 43 OF 1927.

A Bill to amend the Indian Emigration Act, 1917, for a certain purpose.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Indian Emigration Act, 1917, for the purposes hereinafter appearing; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

1. This Act may be called the Indian Emigration (Amendment) Short title Act, 1927.

2. After clause (4) of sub-section (1) of section 2 of the Indian Emigration Act, 1917 (hereinafter referred to as the said Act) the following clause shall be inserted, namely:—

"(4) 'emigration' means any ship specially chartered for the conveyance of emigrants, or conveying emigrants exceeding a number to be prescribed."

Insertion of new clause as amended by Act VII of 1927.

Provided that the Governor-General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, declare that ships carrying emigrants to any specified port shall not be deemed to be emigrant ships.

Amendment of section 11, for the words "any ship specially chartered for the transport of emigrants" the words "emigrant ships" shall be substituted.

(E) In clause (E) of the said sub-section, for the words "both up to the date of their arrival in India and during a voyage on an emigrant ship," shall be substituted.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Article 11 of the Draft Convention concerning the simplification of the inspection of emigrants adopted by the International Labour Conference at its Eighth Session, Geneva, requires each member of the International Labour Organisation ratifying the Convention to give effect to the provisions of Articles 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7, not later than the 1st January 1925. The Government of India, having decided, with the concurrence of the Indian Legislature, to ratify the Convention, it is necessary to amend the Indian Emigration Act, 1902 (VII of 1902), as follows—

(a) to define an "emigrant ship" as required by Article 1 of the Convention (the term "emigrant" is already defined in section 2 (1) (3) of the Act); and

(b) to empower the Governor-General in Council to give effect to the provisions of other Articles of the Convention and to the International Convention.

Clauses 2 and 3 (E), respectively, of the draft Bill purport to effect the necessary amendments. Sub-clause (d) of clause 3 carries out an amendment consequential to the amendment proposed in clause 2.

The 2nd September 1927.

A. N. DALAL.

The following Report of the Select Committee on the Bill further to amend the Indian Penal Code and the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1861, for a certain purpose was presented to the Legislative Assembly on the 14th September 1927—

We, the undersigned, Members of the Select Committee to which the Bill further to amend the Indian Penal Code and the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1861, for a certain purpose was referred, have considered the Bill and have now the honour to submit this our Report, with the Bill as amended thereto.

2. We have given long and careful consideration to the provisions of the Bill word by word and propose to explain our conclusions separately under each clause.

Clause 1.—The proposed new section 281-A is by far the most important provision contained in the Bill and we have considered it in the light of each sentence to have been suggested since the Bill was introduced whether by Members of the Legislature or of the general public and we now proceed to set forth our conclusions in detail.

In the first place, we are of opinion that the simple use of the word "intentionally" does not sufficiently bring out what we consider is the content of the offence, namely, that the insult to religion or the outrage to religious feelings must be the sole, or primary, or at least the dominant and decisive intention. We have accordingly decided to adopt the phrasing of section 288 which requires deliberate intention in order to restrict the offence with which it deals.

Secondly, we think that to punish even an occasional outrage or attempted outrage upon the religious feelings of any class would be making the net too wide for the class with particular reference to which the Bill has been introduced. At the same time, we believe that the tolerance to the principle of religious feelings was limited to provide for the case of an insult to the founder of a religion or a person held sacred by the followers of a particular religion whose such an outrage does not amount to an insult to the religion. It has in our instance been held that an insult to the founder of a religion is not necessarily an insult to the religion although it may outrage the religious feelings of the followers of that religion. We have therefore provided that the new section shall only apply in cases where a religion is insulted with the deliberate intention of outraging the religious feelings of its followers; and, to make it clear that an attack on a founder is not sufficient from the scope of the section, we have specifically made punishable an insult to the "religious beliefs" of the followers of any religion.

Further, we were impressed by an argument to the effect that an insult to a religion or to the religious beliefs of the followers of a religion might be exhibited in good faith by a writer with the object of facilitating some measure of social reform by administering such a shock to the followers of the religion as would arouse reform being taken of any reforms so made. We have therefore amplified the words "with deliberate intention" by inserting reference to malice, and we think that the section which we have now enacted will be both comprehensive and at the same time not too wide an application.

Finally, we have limited the scope of the original section by the insertion of the words "or by signs" and the words "or otherwise". Indeed, we find difficulty in imagining cases to which the latter words would be applicable, and we think the words "or by signs" are not necessary for the purpose of this particular class of offences with which it is intended to deal.

Class 3.—The amendments which we have made in sub-clause (1) of this clause are consequential upon those which we have made in clause 2.

As regards sub-clause (2), we are of opinion that a provision requiring the sanction of Government to the institution of a prosecution under this section is necessary in order to avoid factions or vindictive proceedings which would not be likely to result in a conviction.

In sub-clause (3), we have provided that cases under the new section shall be triable exclusively by Courts of Session, or, in Presidency towns, by Presidency Magistrates. By so doing, we avoid the possibility of a trial followed by an appeal to the Court of Session and an application for revision to the High Court. At the same time, we think that the Court of Session should have direct cognizance of cases many of which are likely to raise difficult points of law as of fact and law combined. We desire to observe that by the reference to a Court of Session we mean a Court of Session sitting with a Justice.

We have also made the offence indictable.

3. The Bill was published in the Gazette of India, dated the 27th August 1927.

4. We think that the Bill has not been so altered as to require re-publication, and we recommend that it be passed as now amended.

MINUTES OF DISSENT.

In so far as the purpose of the Bill is to deter people from committing attacks upon temples or temples themselves upon stated grounds we have every sympathy with it, but we do not think that it will achieve this purpose. We think that the Bill as carried by the Select Committee is much less objectionable than the original draft, but even in its present form we consider it a regrettable concession to intolerance. As we understand it, the maintenance of peace is an essential principle of all the great religions professed in India, and all departures from this principle are only manifestations of religious intolerance. If this be so—and obviously any other form of religion would be anti-social and dangerous—then it follows that what the original Bill denoted as religious feeling are really hotspots feelings. This means may tend to increase fanaticism because it creates a new offence. Protesters may also conceivably be put upon the authorities to ask if against social reformers or those who wish to assist the evolution of the popular understanding of religion is so to bring the understanding into closer conformity with the spirit of the original teachings.

We consider that the existing law is adequate to deal with all wrongs calculated to lead to a breach of the peace or leading to such a breach, or an interference with general or religious Equity, as personal or sociological purposes. The recent judgment in the Hindu-Verma case confirms us in this view.

I endorse what is written above.

ZULFIQAR ALI KHAN.

I agree with Mr. Jinnah on this point.

J. CHERRAH

Apart from what I have said in the Joint Memorial, I have to offer the following observations about one or two provisions in the Bill as passed by the Select Committee.

The words "with deliberate and malicious intention" indeed provide a fair amount of protection to a person named under this section, as burden of proof is thereby put on the prosecution in this respect. But I think it would be still better, if an exception were added to section 3, indicating that it would not be an offence under that section to criticize the principles, doctrines or tenets or observances of any religion, with a view to investigate truth, or improve the condition of human society, or to promote social and religious reform. Such an exception may seem superfluous, but would make things quite clear, and be a good guide to the Judge.

I do not agree that the right to initiate prosecution for this particular offence should be given exclusively to Government. Even supposing that the creation of a new offence, as in this Bill, was necessary, it is likely to prove mischievous, if Government alone were made the Judges of whose action may be taken or not taken. Justice being a thankless task to Government, those spirit of impartiality will be put to a severe test when it sometimes must stand in a matter like this. Moreover some sections of society who are less obedient and tolerant are likely to be denied the use of the remedy under this Bill, and their wrongs may be perpetuated, though they would be equally entitled to judicial relief with any other section of the Society.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY BILL No. 29 OF 1927.

[As AMENDED AT THE SELECT COMMITTEE.]

(Words printed in Italics indicate the amendments suggested by the Committee.)

A Bill further to amend the Indian Penal Code and the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, for a better purpose.

Whereas it is expedient further to amend the Indian Penal Code and the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, for the purpose hereto after appearing; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

1. This Act may be called the Criminal Law Amendment Act, 1927.

BY AN ACT OF 1927.

the members of Hindu undivided families and other transactions among persons governed by Hindu law shall, in so far as may be effected by written and registered instruments, be referred, Inter Partes No. 1, to the Bill and the papers sent to the members, and have now V. the honor to submit this our Report, with the Bill as amended by us annexed thereto.

There is a substantial body of opinion in favour of the principle of the Bill. Certain apprehensions, however, have been expressed and suggestions made to which we have given our careful attention.

Clause 1—In deference to local opinion, including the opinion of the Local Governments, we have proposed that the Act should not extend to the Scheduled Districts of Assam or to the North-West Frontier Provinces.

We have altered sub-clause (2) of this clause so as to enable Government to carry into effect a recommendation, which we urge upon their acceptance, to release the stamp duties levied upon instruments affected by the Act.

Clause 2—Many of the opinions express apprehension that this clause would abrogate the right of a member of a Hindu undivided family which has been specifically recognized by Their Lordships of the Privy Council to separate himself from the other members by a mere declaration or expression of intention to do so. We think that this apprehension is clearly unfounded. All that sub-clause (1) of this clause does is to require that such a unilateral declaration must be made in writing and registered. After a careful consideration, however, of the provisions contained in the last part of this sub-clause, we have come to the conclusion that considerable hardship would be caused to the Hindu community by a provision which precluded the acquisition of separate status by members other than the execution of an instrument evidencing an intention to acquire it. We have accordingly limited the operation of this part of the sub-clause to the case of a unilateral declaration or expression of intention to separate which we agree should invariably be reduced to writing and registered.

We have confined the operation of the provisions of sub-clause (2) of this clause to transactions in respect of immovable property, and in view of a considerable body of opinion adverse to the inclusion of clause (4) on the ground that family arrangements are of an intimate and unstable character that it would be a real hardship to require such one of them to be in writing and registered, we have omitted that clause.

Clause 3—Some of us are of opinion that clause 3 as amended might be misinterpreted. We have accordingly attempted to make it clear that the rules are to provide only for the method in which the application of sub-clause 2 to any particular transaction shall be determined.

Clause 4—We have reinserted clause (4) of the proposed new sub-clause (2) of section 23 of the Indian Registration Act, 1908, in view of the alterations which we have made in clause 2 and we have further omitted clause (5) of the proposed new sub-clause as being unnecessary.

Clause 5 and 6—The opinion of clause (4) of sub-clause (2) of clause 2 involves the revision of these clauses of the Bill.

MINUTES OF DISSENT.

I feel that the intention of the Committee to exclude from the operations of the Bill transactions whereby a family unit becomes divided in status, such as student, partial alienation of joint interest by one or more members of a discretionary, business transactions between the coparceners, and so forth, has not been given effect to by the Bill as now amended. The right to become partially divided, either in respect of the members of the discretionary or in respect of discretionary property, leaving the family joint in respect of the other members and the undivided property is now recognised by the document. It is desirable to insert a proviso to clause 3 to make the intention of the Committee clear in respect of these matters.

COUNCIL OF STATE BILL NO. 8 OF 1928.

[As amended by the Select Committee.]

(Words printed in italics indicate the amendments suggested by the Committee.)

A Bill to provide for partition and separation of interests among the members of Hindu undivided families and other instruments among persons governed by Hindu law shall, in certain cases, be effected by written and registered instruments.

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide that partition and separation of interest among the members of Hindu undivided families and other transactions among persons governed by Hindu law shall, in certain cases, be effected by written and registered instruments; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

1. (1) This Act may be called the Hindu Family Transactions Act, 1928.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India, except the Scheduled Districts of Assam, the North-West Frontier Province and those districts or parts of country which are excluded from the operation of the Act of 1908, Indian Registration Act, 1908.

(3) It shall come into force on such date as the Governor General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, appoint.

2. (1) After the commencement of this Act, no partition of the whole or any part of the immovable property of any Hindu undivided family existing immovable property which exceeds in value one thousand rupees, and no withdrawal of interest or separation of interest as the part of any member of a Hindu undivided family, shall be effected otherwise than by a written and registered instrument.

Provided that a withdrawal of interest or separation of interest in any such property shall not require to be registered if it is contained in a public document, or in a grant or written statement of deposit presented in a suit before a Civil or Revenue Court, or in any written statement of any matter in arbitration.

(2) The following transactions among persons governed by the Hindu law, namely:—

(a) a transfer by a widow or other person having a limited interest in immovable property of such property in favour of a transferee,

(b) a release by a member of a Hindu undivided family of his undivided interest in the immovable property of the family in favour of the other members,

(c) a grant of maintenance to any member of a Hindu undivided family charged on any immovable property, shall not, where the immovable property transferred or affected, as the case may be, by the transaction, release or grant exceeds in value one hundred rupees, be effected otherwise than by a written and registered instrument.

(3) Nothing in this section shall apply to—

(a) any lease or order of a Court, or

(b) any award, or

III-3

(c) any instrument made by a Revenue Officer purporting to operate to effect a partition of any property of, or a separation among any of the members of, a Hindu undivided family, or
(d) any will.

3 The Local Government may, by notification in the local official Gazette, make rules to provide for the manner in which the value of immovable property shall be determined for the purpose of determining the applicability of section 2 to any transaction affecting or relating to such property.

4 In section 17 of the Indian Registration Act, 1908 (hereinafter referred to as the said Act), for sub-section (2) the following sub-section shall be substituted, namely:—

"(2) The following documents shall also be registered, namely:—

(a) authorities to adopt as are executed after the 1st day of January, 1912, and not condoned by a will; and

(b) adulteral dationes et separationes or separates as the part of any member of a Hindu undivided family, except such as are expressly exempted from registration under the Hindu Family Transmissions Act, 1901."

The following Report of the Select Committee on the Bill further to amend the Indian Limitation Act, 1908, was presented to the Council of State on the 15th September, 1907:—

We, the undersigned, Members of the Select Committee to which the Bill further to amend the Indian Limitation Act, 1908, was referred, have considered the Bill and have now the honour to submit this our Report, with the Bill as amended by us, to your Grace.

2. The objects of the Bill, as given in the Statement of Objects and Reasons, are the following:—

(1) to make the period of limitation under articles 123 and 124 run from the date when the sale or transfer becomes known to the plaintiff;

(2) to reduce the period of limitation under article 125 from twelve years to three years;

(3) (a) to bring Hindu, Mahomedan and Christian religious and charitable endowments within the scope of section 16 of the Indian Limitation Act, and

(b) to bring these endowments within the scope of articles 123 and 124.

As regards (1), we consider on the whole that the date when the plaintiff obtains knowledge of the transfer is more in accord with the most reliable date from which limitation should run. If limitation runs from the date of the transfer itself, it is a simple matter for a dishonest trustee and a colluding transferee to evade the fact of the transfer until the period of limitation has expired. The position is not much improved if the period is made to run from the delivery of possession, for even the fact of possession of the estate is given rise to a claim of return and can also be concealed; for instance, land may be given out originally on lease from year to year in the ordinary course of management, and then collectively sold, without any one interested knowing that the vendor's possession is other than that of a lease from year to year. We, therefore, recommend that the period should run from the date when the transfer becomes known to the plaintiff.

3. If this point is ruled, then there is no reason to restrict such a long period as twelve years in the case of the sale of moveable property under article 123. We consider that in these cases a period of three years is quite sufficient and that the second object of the Bill should be carried into effect.

4. As regards the first part of the third object, we are entirely in agreement with clause 2 of the Bill, which brings religious and charitable endowments within the scope of section 10 of the Limitation Act.

5. As regards the second portion of the third object, we consider that the general intention of the Bill is sound, and that a definite provision should be made in the Schedule to the Limitation Act for suits relating to the recovery of endowment property which has been transferred for a valuable consideration. However, the Bill, in our opinion, does not clearly provide for the different cases which arise, which fall into two classes:—

(1) Suits by persons interested in the endowment (who would be called beneficiaries if the endowment were a trust), to set aside alienations of the endowment property made by the manager.

In these cases the plaintiff is not entitled to possession and interest, therefore, claim is made for the property; but he may sue to have the transfer set aside and for any consequential relief which may be adapted to the circumstances of the case. For this class of case, we propose a new article 41B for moveable property and 124B for immovable property.

(2) Suits by the manager himself attacking alienations made by a predecessor.

Here the plaintiff is himself entitled to possession of the property and the current fruits of the suit is one to recover possession. In accordance with these rules, Their Lordships of the Privy Council have held in Yadva Venu: Thakur vs. Bahadur Ayyar and others (1 L.R. 44 Mad. 821) that protection is granted by article 144, on the view that, when such manager succeeds to the management of the endowment, the possession of the alienor becomes adverse to him and limitation runs from the date of his succession. We consider this rule to be suitable to the circumstances of these endowments. At present it is derived from an application of article 144, which is a general rule, to the special case of the alienation of endowment property; and Their Lordships themselves in Lat Chaud Mahomed vs. Ram Bahadur (L.R. 35, I.A. (24) 101) have doubted the legality of the application. We, therefore, propose to put the matter beyond doubt by embodying the rule in special articles in the Schedule to the Limitation Act. These articles will be in accordance with the principle underlying new articles 41B and 124A, for it may be presumed that when a new manager takes over charge he will at once repudiate himself with the effects of the endowment and obtain knowledge of any improper alienations. For this class of suit, therefore, we propose articles 41C and 124B relating to moveable and immovable, respectively.

2. As a result of the insertion of these articles relating specially to religious and charitable endowments, article 124 will remain applicable to trust property or managed property only and will be amended only in the third column; and article 131 will be slightly amended and renumbered in a place at 48A in order to varied the period of limitation.

3. The Bill was published in the Gazette of India of the 2nd September 1927.

4. Articles 480 and 134B as proposed by us introduce in a clear form a very important rule of limitation which at present is under judicial decision. In our judgment their introduction has altered the law substantially, and we consider it desirable that it should be considered widely for opinion before steps upon it are taken in the Legislature.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Certain changes in the Act of 1920 are proposed to be introduced by the Bill. These changes have been recommended by the experience of municipal administration in the Madras Presidency in the past few years. One main recommendation (section 4) is to abolish nominations to the Municipal Council and substitute co-option by the Council for the representation of minorities. It is now agreed by all the parties that nominations should be abolished, and some other device should be found out. The Bill proposes co-option as a suitable device. Another important amendment (section 7) proposed is to re-introduce actual election of Chairmen. This has been removed by Madras Act 2 of 1922. It is proposed to re-introduce this, so that the Chairmen may truly represent the Council whose personnel changes substantially year to year. It is also proposed by the Bill (section 7) to abolish the institution of 'paid' chairmen, and make 'all' Chairmen' (as there are many willing) do the duties of a chairman without any pay. Another important amendment (section 14 and (1)) is to remove the condition of payment of tax in the previous year for being a voter. Since payment of tax has nothing to do with the exercise of franchise, and since this clause is being shared by several Municipal Chairmen it is proposed to amend section 45. The other sections speak for themselves.
